MILITARY MASS UNUSUAL

SPECTACLE AT CAMP LEE
A spectacle rare in the history of the United States was witnessed by the soldiers at Camp Lee on Washington's birthday. This was a military mass, of the impressiveness of which David Cunningham has written to his sister, Miss Elizabeth Cunningham of Vine street.

"It was fine," said the writer. "Bishop O'Connell, of Richmond, preached a wonderful sermon. The singing was by soldiers from the camp. The guard formed in a circle about the altar, the members carrying their rifles with bayonets fixed and keeping their hats on during the mass. Wish you could have been here to see the service. A large number of people, including ladies, came out from Richmond to attend the mass. "Everything is just the same in camp. I am feeling fine and drilling harder every day. It looks like we will be here for a while, at least I think the non-commissioned officers will. They are transferring men to other points every day; about 3,000 went last week. "Say hello to the neighbors for me."

The Very Original Millinery Modes

There is an extraordinary variety of ideas being presented in millinery for Easter and indeed this variety each season seems to have become an established principle in New York millinery centers.

In shapes, this diversity is more apparent than ever. In many cases the shape being so characteristic in itself that trimming becomes an incidental consideration.

The Spring styles are unusually beautiful, even though simplicity of effect is most frequently aimed at.

Tomorrow a great number of new ideas in street hats will be ready for your inspection.

These hats will range in price from $3.95, $4.95, $5.95, $7.50, $10.00, $12.50 up to as high as $30.00.

W. VA. MINISTER ENDORSES THIS

A Sufferer For Years Himself, He Tells of Great Remedy for Chronic Diarrhea.

CURED HIM, BUILT HIM UP, FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN

Down in Mississippi a farmer, unearthing, one day, a deposit of peculiar looking gray mineral which turned strangely red when the air and rain struck it. He was poor that day but became rich almost over night because, like the discoverer of radium, he had unearthed another natural phenomena.

With almost unlimited facilities, great care, and a 99 year lease, the Ferroline Chemical Corp. is working this medicine mine, extracting or pulverizing it, compounding it and shipping it in highly concentrated liquid form to its big plant in Roanoke, Va., where it is bottled and shipped to all parts of the country and is best used by users of it. Rev. E. J. Garten, of Talcott, W. Va., writes:

"I suffered from chronic diarrhea for close to fifteen years and tried many methods and medicines without permanent relief. Several doctors failed to do anything for me but one day a friend told me about Acid Iron Mineral and I want to say to all who read this that it not only gave me temporary relief, but it cured me of chronic diarrhea of fifteen years standing and built up my nervous system in such a way I felt like a new man. The very first bottle did wonders for me. I can never say enough for this great medicine which they are getting from the Great God, it seems, for the very purpose of curing our ailments."

The above minister's enthusiasm over this great natural iron remedy has known no bounds and for a long time he has praised it. Hundreds and perhaps thousands of people have bought Acid Iron Mineral on his recommendation with splendid results. Most druggists in larger towns have it or a large twelve ounce bottle (thirty day treatment) will be sent prepaid on receipt of $1 by the Ferroline Chemical Corporation, Roanoke, Va. WILLIAM H. JOHNS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BATTEN COMPANY

Prominent in Advertising Field and Long Associated With Late George Batten.

The recent death of George Batten, president of George Batten Company, Inc., a pioneer of the advertising business and for many years one of its most prominent representatives has been followed by the election of William H. Johns to the presidency of the company founded by Mr. Batten.

There could be no more logical successor than Mr. Johns to the responsibilities long held by Mr. Batten as chief of one of the greatest advertising agencies now in the field, for the business association of the two men covers a period of thirty years. In 1889, when Mr. Batten was advertising manager for Funk & Wagnalls, Mr. Johns was a solicitor in his department. In 1891 Mr. Batten started the company which bears his name, and Mr. Johns was one of his first employees. He became a partner when the business was incorporated, in 1905, and had been its vice-president since that time.

That Mr. Johns is recognized as one of the most prominent men in the advertising field today is indicated by his recent appointment as Chairman of the Division of Advertising of the Committee on Public Information, the division having been created by executive order of President Wilson.

"The business of George Batten Company," said Mr. Johns, in speaking of his new responsibilities, "was founded by Mr. Batten on the high ideals of absolute honesty and of placing the interests of the client always before those of the company. To maintain unwaveringly these ideals will be my aim."

Salts in Hot Water Clears Pimply Skin
Says we must make kidneys clean the blood, and pimples disappear.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.—adv.

Pittsburgh Garbage Incinerator Company

Stock As An Investment

Any manufacturing enterprise, to be a safe investment, must have a solid substantial base. There must be a market for the manufactured product, no matter what it is.

The Pittsburgh Garbage Incinerator Company

meets these requirements. The whole world eventually will be its field, but for years to come, we will be able to satisfy but a small portion of the demand in the United States.

Every dwelling, apartment house, hotel, restaurant, store, factory, hospital, office building, and borough in the entire United States is a possible customer and user of the Pittsburgh Garbage Incinerator.

We can only scratch the surface, as it were, and we predict that the time will come, when the owner of a new building, will as readily omit a bath tub from the new building as he will a garbage incinerator. No product on the market today has or can have a more solid or substantial base than this.

MEN ARE THE OVERWHELMING NEED ON WESTERN FRONT, SAYS MAJOR INNES, EXPLAINING NEW DRAFT CONVENTION

"Men are the overwhelming need on the western front in France and Flanders," declared Major Mitchell Innes of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission today, "and every Britisher and Canadian who desires to serve the allies best will enlist for service at once in the British or Canadian armies. The United States has its hands full in training the men who have been drafted, and a second draft is to follow close upon the first. It is impossible for the United States government to deal immediately with the large number of men that will be brought within the selective draft law by the draft convention which is soon to become operative between the British Empire and the United States.

"On the other hand, Canada and Great Britain, because of years of practice, have their training machinery in such splendid running order that every Britisher and Canadian who volunteers now or promptly elects to join the British or Canadian army when the draft convention is signed, will speedily get to the front where he is needed. I know of one case where a Canadian volunteered in the United States, was trained, went to France, fought for his country and was invalided home all within six months.

"Under the general registration last June 121,184 British subjects in the United States between the ages of 21 and 31 were enrolled, and this number did not include those with first papers. When the convention becomes effective there will be another military registration day for British aliens in this country between the ages of 20 and 21 and between 31 and 41, and this may increase the number of British subjects here from 20 up to 41 to 200,000.

"This registration will be conducted by the United States, and if within sixty days after the convention is signed a Britisher or Canadian has not chosen to serve in the British or Canadian army, he will be taken by the American draft. In England and British colonies, citizens of the United States will be subject to military regulations between 21 and 31, and will be taken into the British army if they do not choose within sixty days to join the United States forces. Only 19,000 Britishers and Canadians in the United States have thus far volunteered and been accepted. Now is the time for the tens of thousands remaining inactive to join their heroic brothers overseas."

STEEL SHIPMENTS NOW CLOSE TO 75 PER CENT. SET PRICES TO CONTINUE

Is Expected to Be Recommendation at Forthcoming Conference; Chief Pressure Is For Deliveries.

Special to The Weekly Courier

NEW YORK, March 6.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Steel shipments are increasing somewhat more rapidly than a fortnight ago and are now averaging close to 75 per cent of nominal capacity, though with the great amount of new construction that has occurred in the past two years the ratings should probably be higher than those now taken for the purpose of making comparisons. Pig iron production is outstripping finished steel production, as the finishing operations are retarded by shipping conditions and it is more convenient to stock ingots than finished steel. The heavier production of pig iron that has lately been occurring, blast furnace operations in the industry as a whole are easily at 80 per cent of capacity.

As a result of the conference held last Friday with representatives of all producing lines the iron and steel committee will probably recommend to the War Industries Board a continuance of the present set prices to the end of the year. The conference at which this matter will be discussed is expected to be held between the 15th and 20th of this month. An interesting feature of the situation is that the War Industries Board has a new chairman, Mr. Baruch.

By far the most interesting feature of the situation is the possibility that there will be a competitive market in some iron and steel products in the near future. Whether or not this will occur depends chiefly upon transportation. The high costs, which make it that at the set prices the producers are earning very moderate profits indeed, are due in considerable part to light production caused by insufficient transportation. It is being pointed out that if the government desires lower prices the readiest and most practical means to that end would be to supply transportation to the industry. It is believed that with favorable weather this can be done.

There is a slight improvement in demand for steel products in the open market, but on the whole demand is very light, the pressure being chiefly for deliveries against orders already placed, the filling of which in most cases is very long overdue.

A LIMIT TO BE FIXED UPON THE AMOUNT OF COAL TO BE DELIVERED

Regulating Consumer Part of Fuel Administration's Plan for Fuel Distribution After April 1.

Regulations governing the retail distribution of coal for the coal year beginning April 1, 1918, are under consideration by the Fuel Administration. The fuel administration, in order to avert a recurrence of the coal shortage conditions of the past winter, announces that it proposes to put into effect a definite plan for the proper and equitable distribution of coal to domestic consumers throughout the country. In so far as possible, the regulations will be made flexible in order to enable local fuel administration officials to accommodate the general rules to their local conditions.

Fuel administration officials at work on the retail distribution plan are considering an arbitrary limit on the amount of coal that may be delivered to domestic consumers during the coal year of 1917.

It is probable that local officials will be given the authority to require consumers purchasing coal to submit an attested statement setting forth the amount of coal the consumer has on hand, amount he has ordered from dealers, total amount used during the year 1917 and the amount necessary to meet his requirements during the coal year of 1918. It is expected that the retail distribution plan will be definitely decided upon early next week in order that it may be made effective on April 1.

A general warning has been issued by the Fuel Administration to coal producers that where they are selling their output under contracts made prior to the fixing of coal prices by President Wilson they will not be permitted to charge the 45 cents additional given to operators to meet increased wage costs.

IMPRESSED BY OUR FOOTBALL BATTLES

Japs Take Great Interest in U. S. Army Athletics.

Observers From Far East Wrought Up Over Stoicism and Sportmanship Displayed by Players When Injured in Games.

Ever since the work of organizing America's army was started we have had among us observers from Japan, who are not so much taken up with the way we got together our military forces as they are with our task of keeping the soldier fit and interested. In addition to making observations at our camps they have visited our colleges and perhaps beyond anything else, they have been impressed by our football games.

One of the Japanese, a college professor and a Y. M. C. A. worker, on his return to Tokyo recently delivered a lecture, in which he emphasized the remarkable index to American fighting spirit and character furnished by our football battles.

For ages Japan has prided itself on the spirit of the ancient Samurai—a spirit which, it was held, transcended that of any other nation.

Only those who are intimately familiar with the feelings of the Japanese on that subject can imagine the stir which the lecturer undoubtedly created when he told his fellow Nipponese that "the spirit of the old Samurai is not confined to Japan, but is evident in every game between American college football teams."

"American football never would be a success in Japan—it could not exist here," the Japanese told his hearers, "if any of you think that the spirit of old Japan is superior to the spirit of America you would change that impression if you were to see a hard-fought game on an American college football field."

What impressed the Japanese more than anything in football was the stoicism and sportmanship with which the players accepted injury and even a "knockout."

The Japanese have prided themselves on their ability to take punishment without flinching, but five minutes of a football game convinced our visitor that in at least that feature we stood supreme.

MATT WELLS, EX-BOXER, MAKES HIT AS REFEREE

Matt Wells, the English boxer who was a ring sensation in this country a few years back, has retired from the roped arena, as far as actual fighting goes. Wells, who is located at Rochester at present, has branched out as a referee.

Wells, who was a former amateur lightweight champion of England, made a great hit with New York fight fans soon after the Fawcett law went into effect about 1910. Matt won the English title in 1911, defeating Freddie Welsh in a 20-round bout in London. Welsh regained his English title in 1912, when he defeated Wells in 20 rounds.

PIGEONS TO BE BIG FACTORS IN THE WAR

Fanciers Finally Recognized as Devotees of Sport.

Uncle Sam to Be Furnished With 200,000 Messengers—Birds Are Considered Particularly Reliable for Military Work.

Scouted at and scorned by sportsmen for a score or more of years—ever since the raising of prize pigeons entitled a man to the title of sportsman—Ohio fanciers of homing pigeons at last have been awarded notice among the ranks of devotees of more popularly accepted sporting pastimes.

It remained with the pigeon raisers to furnish the United States one of the most important instruments of warfare necessary to the successful operations in the trenches.

Sometime next summer when the big push starts "over there" Ohio carrier pigeons will bring back to headquarters through barrage fire and machine gun bullets—if they are lucky—messages from observers in airplanes and from men stationed in listening posts far out in front of the front line trenches.

Already more than 7,000 birds of the highest class have been ordered by the war department for delivery at an Atlantic port on a certain date, the exact time of which is kept secret for military reasons.

By next fall, according to Dr. J. C. Simon, secretary of the American Racing Pigeon association, 200,000 first-class carriers will be available for service overseas. The pigeons being taken are considered by Doctor Simon to be particularly reliable in the matter of returning speedily to the spot which marks their present home.

No recruit going into the National army goes under closer scrutiny than do the pigeons accepted, according to officials of the association. Government inspectors scan the registry cards of each entry, after examining the bird to see whether he or she is healthy and accept only those whose parents and grandparents made exceptional records in grand contests.

"WHIMS OF SOCIETY"—In which charming Ethel Clayton is seen in the leading role, is being shown today. "Whims of Society" is a story of factory life and of the brave fight made by a pretty, ambitious factory girl, Nora Carey, was her name, and she fought to earn a living for herself and her younger sister, Katherine, aged 15, and to keep Katherine in school. Nora fought bravely, but the fight was almost too much for her. Finally she met Hugh Travers, son of the owner of the factory where she was employed, and he helped her. But this helped only to further complications. From this time on events happen rapidly, and they all go to make one of the most intensely interesting and entertaining pictures. As Nora, Miss Clayton is superb. She handles the role with the assurance and power which she always brings to a character. Her thousands and thousands of friends will be more than pleased with her rendition of this role. "Whims of Society" is along a different line than any of Miss Clayton's recent pictures, and it gives her many opportunities for the display of her superior acting abilities. The picture is elaborately staged. All the members of the supporting company are splendidly cast, and the scenic effects are delightful. A big ribbon factory in full operation is an extremely interesting feature of the picture. Tomorrow and Saturday Mabel Taliferro will be seen in "Draft 255," a drama of intense interest.

Of the latter the Morris got four on his eccentric acrobatic gyrations, and his wife Flo Morris got three for her buck dance. "Walking Dog" got Mel Melvin two boxes, "La Mont" an encore. Lee, "White House Ball" and "Like You" got an encore. "My Jazz Trio" got three. Miss Evelynne Pattullo got with "All the World Will Be Me." The comedy is "Lord Lee" is consistent, refined. The picture was the destruction of the fifth epilogue, and the woman turned by the fall from a by the star William Dun-

No package shall be greater in size than 84 inches in length and girth combined, nor in form or kind likely to injure the person or any postal employee or damage the mail equipment or other mail matter, and not of a character perishable within a period reasonably required for transportation and delivery.

58,766 AUTOMOBILES

Owned by the Farmers of Pennsylvania Out of a Total of 306,400.

Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Statistics at Harrisburg show that the farmers of Pennsylvania own 58,766 automobiles out of 306,400 Pennsylvania three wheelers cars licensed during 1917.

Herk county leads the state with automobiles on the farm, the number being 2,086; Cameron county has the smallest number, 33. In Fayette county there are 764; Westmoreland with 1,378 almost doubles Fayette's total, but the farmers of Somerset evidence their greater prosperity by owning 1,573 "buzz wagons." Greene county boasts 836, or 122 more than Fayette county.

Carelessness on the part of some one unknown who left sulphuric acid in a test tube in the North Union high school laboratory resulted in what might have been a very serious accident when Miss Olive Asendorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. When You Make Aprons.

Aprons have always been interesting; they are of so many kinds and proclaim so plainly that they are intended for real use in substantial activities or are merely decorative and trivial. But times have changed with aprons, and now the most wear-resistant and useful of them are required to look well, to possess style as well as strength. Necessity and patriotism have given the apron a boost, and now we have "service aprons" and "bungalow aprons," shapely and neat, worn by women who are doing things for themselves and others which others used to do for them.

Some of the bungalow aprons made of plain percale or chambray in all the light colors, pink, lavender, tan, maize, blue, green and rose, with collars and cuffs of flowered cretonnes, ought to be rechristened; they are so gay and pretty. They deserve to be called bungalow frocks at least—and perhaps that is exactly what they are. A service apron for every-day house wear is shown in the picture, made of plaid percale with plain white cuffs and collars. It has long sleeves. Many of the good-looking aprons for housework are made of plain percale or chambray, with plaid collars, pockets, cuffs and belts. Usually the sleeves are three-quarter length. They are designed to be easily laundered, and there are many good patterns for making them, if one has the time. But they are to be had ready made at such moderate prices that it is a question whether there is any economy in doing the work at home or not. It depends upon the time one has to spare and what can best be done with it.

JUST A DUB, BUT--

He Had at Least One Good Deed to His Credit.

And St. Peter Recognized His Fitness to Enter Into Everlasting Joy While Others Less Worthy Were Sent Below.

As standards are on this earth he had not amounted to much. He had lived, laughed, loved, sinned and died in the common way of all. He had made a few friends, and a few enemies, but he had come and passed as one of the many. His had been common toll and he had done it in the ordinary way.

And so when his soul at last stood before the Great White Gate there was no stir among the saints to receive it.

"What have you to say for yourself?" said St. Peter, sternly, but not unkindly.

"Nothing," replied the soul, timidly. "Nothing!" exclaimed St. Peter. "Did you never get your name in the papers?"

"Never. I was never considered very clever down there."

"Oh. Didn't make fine speeches then?"

"No. I couldn't talk on my feet."

"I see. Didn't go to church very often either, did you?"

"No. I was often very tired and on Sundays I slept late in the mornings and played with the kiddies the rest of the day."

"You died in your bed, while thousands of your fellowmen died on the battlefield, fighting for their country?"

"Yes. When the war came I was beyond the age of enlistment."

"Well, can't you think of one thing that you did that might recommend you for admission here?"

"I'm afraid not. All my life I was just a dub."

"Just a dub, eh?"

"Yes. Never did shine at anything. Just a plodder, trying hard all the time to get somewhere, but never actually arriving. And yet--"

"Yet what?"

"If you will permit me to say it, during the great war down there I didn't force a committee to spend two or three hours trying to convince me that I ought to buy Liberty bonds. I couldn't fight; couldn't be a general or a captain; I didn't know enough to fill a government job, but I did know it was every man's duty to back his country to the limit, and I bought all the Liberty bonds I could, without an argument."

"Fine," said St. Peter enthusiastically, "come right on in. Did you notice a crowd of fine-looking, high-stepping souls going down as you came up?"

"Yes."

"Well that was a bunch of loud-talking rich spirits who delayed the end of the war a year because they wouldn't buy Liberty bonds until they were convinced that their purchases were absolutely necessary. They're going to get a taste of trench life under Old Satan in the financial blacker's department."

Warm Climate.

"What is this picture?"

"Fall of Babylon."

"Um. Judging from the costumes, they had a war in those parts."

Good Night Stories

WHO PLANTED "YOUR" TREE?

JOHNNY gathered stones and sat down to wait for the little squirrel who made daily visits to the cherry tree in Johnny's yard.

He hadn't long to wait before Pluffy Redtail ran up the tree trunk and out on a limb. Just as he sat munching a nice ripe cherry, Johnny threw his stone and missed him. Down he scooted and darted under the stone fence, Johnny at his heels.

"I'll get you yet, you little thief," cried Johnny, pulling the stone away, but he couldn't find Pluffy Redtail.

"Now, where do you suppose he went?" said Johnny to himself.

"Back home!" exclaimed a cheery voice.

Startled, Johnny looked up to see quoness sitting on the stone wall at his side.

"What for?"

"Why, I want him to stop stealing our cherries."

"But he isn't stealing them," replied quoness.

"I'd like to know why he isn't," said Johnny. "These cherries belong to us."

"Did you plant this tree?" asked quoness.

"Certainly not," replied Johnny. "The tree's much older than I am."

"Did your Daddy plant it?" continued quoness.

"No!" exclaimed Johnny. "That tree was here when Daddy bought this place."

"How should I know?"

"How should I know?" replied Johnny. "I've stood here a great many years, so they say. But what's that got to do with it?"

"Well," exclaimed quoness, "you ever planted the tree; neither did your Daddy nor the man who sold it to your Daddy. Who did plant it?"

"Such a funny question!" laughed Johnny. "Who do you suppose planted it?"

"Well, have you ever stopped to think that maybe long ago some little squirrel might have dropped the seed this very tree sprang from?" asked quoness.

Johnny had never thought of that, but Pluffy Redtail always dropped the seeds from the cherries he ate and several little green shoots had sprung up under the tree.

"Then he isn't a thief after all!" exclaimed Johnny. "For maybe one of his grandparents planted this very tree."

Johnny ran into the house and told his Mama what quoness had said.

"There's no telling," laughed Mama, "for the man who sold the place said he'd been sprang up of his own accord."

It was a funny question, and all there were twenty for Johnny, and Johnny never threw stones at him again.

ODIUM ATTACHED TO CARD

Numerous Explanations as to Why the Nine of Diamonds Is Called the Curse of Scotland.

While the nine spot of spades is looked upon as a fatal and vindictive card in the tryst of fortunes, it is the nine of diamonds that bears the odium of being called the curse of Scotland.

All writers agree on the card, but as to the cause of the stigma attached to it there is a diversity of opinion and it is difficult to decide which of the many theories is correct. One theory is that after the Dulloden struggle the duke of Cumberland picked up a nine of diamonds from the floor and wrote on it an order for the death of the insurgents. To clinch this argument, it is declared that the identical card is preserved at St. James castle, Edinburgh.

Another explanation was that a Scotch member of parliament, a part of whose family arms was the nine of diamonds, once voted for a malt tax for his country. Still another view is that diamonds represent royalty and every ninth king of Scotland having been a tyrant and a curse furnishes the key to the mystery. One writer explains it by stating that the last queen of Scotland taxed her subjects heavily to pay for nine jewels for her own adornment. The "last queen of Scotland" in her own right was poor, pretty Marie Stuart, against whose memory has been tossed the burden of countless accusations by her bitter critics, and she might as well bear the nine of diamonds' slander along with the others.

Are Aviators Born?

"There was a time when it was held that a man must be especially born for aeronautical duties," writes Henry Woodhouse, vice president of the Aerial League of America, in Every-body's.

"Experience had brought out the fact that the average young man can make an excellent aviator. Captain Gynemer, Major Bishop, Captain William Thaw, Captain Ball of the Lafayette escadrille, and practically all the famous aviators were not men who impressed anybody with being different from other young men."

"Of the thousands of allied aviators there are probably not 500 men who had seen more than a few months of military service before joining the air service. Most of them had never seen any military service."

"In planning an organization for the selection and training of aviators, the aircraft board and signal corps of the United States have had to prepare to deal entirely with men who had never seen military service, as other countries have done."

Undetected.

"Now I speak on as a burglar. The stage is dark. I must not be discovered."

"All right."

"Be sure to keep me in the spot light."

Looks for World Famine.

Mr. Egan, United States minister to Denmark, says if the war lasts two years longer the whole world will be on the verge of starvation. That is possible. With 10,000,000 men in arms, consuming and not producing, the time is coming and is not far off when there will be no food left. A foodless world will be a strange experience. There have been famines, but for the people to have nothing to eat anywhere is a situation that has never been anticipated heretofore. There is some gratification in thinking that the Hun will be getting hungrier than we are and will be turning to us to borrow a little flour and bacon, which we will be sure to lend him on condition that he promises to behave himself and let up on his Kultur.—Ohio State Journal.

Keep Bees and Need No Sugar.

The United States department of agriculture has started a campaign to stimulate bee-keeping, this as a real war economy measure, for honey can take the place of sugar, and there are absolutely unlimited supplies of honey in the flowers that grow wild all over the land.

Bee-keeping is very easy, and any man who goes about it carefully and with such elementary instructions as he can get from the department of agriculture can have a good crop of honey the first year and be able to laugh at the scarcity of sugar, besides making a profit by the sale of the product of his bees.

Safest Place.

We were calling at a home in East Cleveland, not more than a hundred yards from where the Nickel Plate tracks cross Superior. As we rang the bell we noticed something that gave us a shudder of apprehension, and when our hostess answered the door we gave vent to our feelings at once.

"Mrs. Emdash," we said, "do you know where your children are playing?"

"No," she gasped, pulling a little with alarm. "Where are they?"

"Up there on the railroad tracks!" we told her.

"She looked relieved."

"Oh," she said, "I was afraid they were playing in the street. I am so afraid of the automobiles. Won't you come in—I'll call Mr. Emdash."

TNT Poison Through Skin.

Tritrotozone poisoning is a new disease in America, but one that has attracted much attention since our factories began making munitions in large quantities. There is some dispute how the TNT poisons, but the Medical Record says the weight of evidence is in favor of its absorption through the skin, though inhaling the fumes may be responsible to some extent.

Unjust Conviction.

When the burglar was haled before the judge, charged with attempted larceny for the theft of a pair of shoes the judge fined him $10.

"But, judge," remonstrated the grook, "that's an awful fine; they didn't get."

FRENCH TROOPS WITH MITRAILLEUSE DRIVING BACK GERMANS

The French mitralleuse has proved very effective in driving back the German troops, and has mowed down many an advancing line. This photograph shows French soldiers in a captured trench firing a mitralleuse at the oncoming foe.

This preparation so very effective, has been placed on sale everywhere. Get a bottle, medium or large size, at your nearest druggist.

Protest Slag Charges.

Another step in the furnace slag case has been taken by the Cribble Stoll company protesting the payment of charges for hauling it as provided by the last decision of the federal court.

IS DIFFICULT FOR FURNACES TO KEEP UP RATE OF OPERATION

Now That They Have Used Up Their Accumulations of Beckie Coke.

SHIPMENTS STILL SHORT

Of Requirements and Likely to Continue So Until More Cars Are Placed in the Coke Trade; No Revision of Prices Expected Until End of Year.

Special to The Weekly Courier.
PITTSBURG, March 6.—While shipments of coke continue to increase slowly the blast furnaces are having some difficulty in maintaining their rate of operation of two or three weeks ago as they have used up the accumulations of coke produced by the railroads clearing up the congestion in their yards and on sidings.
The increased shipments of the past week or two are due to the return of the cars that had been tied up in this congestion. Shippers maintain that this is not sufficient, and that there are not nearly enough cars engaged in the trade, even though the cars make the round trips with their old time facility. The railroads recognize this fact and promise that more cars will be put into the trade. The cars are to be secured as congestion in the east is relieved, and by finding as many cars elsewhere as can be spared from other traffic.

Fortunately for the railroads in this particular connection, the authorities at Washington have been interested themselves lately chiefly in the movement of foodstuffs, requiring box cars, and the railroads have an opportunity to do something with open top cars.
Reports in the past few days have been to the effect that there is a considerable flow of cars from the east to be put into the coal and coke trade of western Pennsylvania. While no precise estimates are made the indication seems to be that the inflow in the Connellsville coke movement should be several hundred cars per week. The total number of cars lately engaged in this trade is not known at all definitely, but is probably in the neighborhood of 20,000. Whatever the exact number, shippers insist that it should be at least 25 per cent. greater,
as coke shipments even with reasonably quick movement of cars are short of requirements by at least that amount.

The advances in coke prices granted by the Fuel Administration late last week to certain districts in West Virginia, also on certain descriptions of foundry coke made in Indiana county, Pennsylvania, have raised the question whether there may not be some modifications of prices in connection with Connellsville coke. The majority opinion is strongly that there will be no revision and that in fact recent declarations of the Fuel Administration have indicated that the present set prices are to run at least to the end of this year. The matter of iron and steel price revision, now being discussed, does not include coke, for the reason that by the announcement of December 28 last the iron and steel prices were continued definitely to March 31, while that was not done with coke, and there is the further fact that the iron and steel prices are taken care of by the War Industries Board while coal and coke prices are set through the medium of the Fuel Administration acting under the President's authority established by the Lever act of last August. The iron and steel price fixing, on the other hand, is in essence a voluntary agreement.

There are slightly heavier offerings of coke in the open market, but as formerly the offerings are almost entirely of coke loaded in Pittsburgh & Lake Erie cars, which are not permitted to go off the road's own rails and therefore can reach only a very few consumers. Sales made are at the set prices. After June 30 there will be considerably more free coke in the

COKE TRADE SUMMARY.

Neither permanent nor progressive gain in the volume of outgoing coke tonnage has yet come to the Connellsville region, although it is ready for both and has been ever since the "clean-up" of loaded car accumulations of some weeks ago.
In rail shipments last week there was a falling off which more than offset the gain in river shipments, leaving the week with its total of 297,254 tons 344 tons behind the aggregate of the previous week. This shows plainly that a larger car supply has not yet become available, much as the region had reason to expect would be forthcoming before this time. In fact, the outlook this week is decidedly worse than last. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad has made about an average distribution and the Baltimore & Ohio has done fairly well, but the Pennsylvania has failed to keep up to its recent averages.
This is accounted for by the great activity in shipping up an eastbound movement of foodstuffs which will continue at the maximum for some days yet. As it causes the railroads to promise to give more attention to a return of empties which, if they materialize, will help out the coke situation.

The furnaces are beginning to feel the pinch having about exhausted the accumulations of coke which resulted from the clean-up, but day-to-day shipments are at present insufficient to maintain iron production at the level prevailing for several weeks past.

market as many contracts expire on that date. So far as known no contracts expire at the end of this month.
The market remains quotable at the set prices as follows:

Furnace $5.00
Foundry, 72-hour selected $7.00
Crushed over 1-inch $7.00
The local coal trade is much interested in the prospective revision of coal prices, which is to occur by April 1. All that is definitely known through official announcements is that the coal brokerage of 15 cents, now permitted to be charged by brokers above the set price, is to come off, and the price at the mine is to be advanced. The probability seems to be that the advance will be only 15 cents or a fraction thereof, to give the coal operator something out of which to pay brokerage, but it is regarded as a distinct possibility that the advance will be larger than 15 cents. There is a fair volume of Pittsburgh coal now moving in the spot market but the fact that consumers are still willing to pay brokers a commission, above the price to which the operators are limited, indicates that coal is not plentiful. The Youngstown steel interests, however, seem now well provided, as they are not buying in the open market. The set prices for Pittsburgh district coal are: Slack, $2.20; mine-run, $2.45;
screened, $2.70, per net-ton at mine.
Brokers are now permitted to charge the buyer a commission, above the set prices, not to exceed 15 cents.

The pig iron market continues rather quiet but sales of small lots are being made in fair volume, and there is a moderate amount of contract business in foundry grades for the second half. All transactions are at the set prices, with a provision for revision to any new government price that may be in force at the date of shipment. The set prices are:

Bessemer $23.30
Basic $23.00
No. 2 foundry $23.00
Malleable $23.50
Force $22.00

These prices are f.o.b. furnaces, freight to Pittsburgh in the case of the Valley furnaces being 96 cents.
W. P. Snyder & Company announce their averages for February at $36.40 for Bessemer and $33.00 for basic, at Valley furnaces.
